MONTHLY PORTFOLIO SUMMARY

Over the course of the month, the portfolio achieved its best relative performance from its Health Care names which gained 1.0% versus the group loss of -1.6% led by Royal Philips. The portfolio's Industrials and Energy names were also positive contributors. On the downside, the biggest detraction occurred with the portfolio's Information Technology names which lagged 0.7% versus their peers' rise of 3.3% due largely to Corning while to a lesser degree the portfolio lost value with its Financials, Consumer Discretionary, and Materials names. The portfolio's sector weights detracted due largely to the overweight in Energy and underweight in Information Technology. The overweight to Financials was a positive offsetting some of the loss.

MAJOR POSITION CHANGES/KEY EVENTS DURING THE MONTH

In July, no position was initiated or eliminated. The top positions by size that were increased were Ameriprise Financial, Cousins Properties, and IBM while the top positions reduced by size were Merck, Royal Philips, and Citigroup.

MARKET OUTLOOK

The seesawing on U.S./China trade progress continues but most recently has taken a turn for the worse. President Trump's recent announcement that he intends on imposing 10% tariffs on an additional $300 billion worth of Chinese imports to begin September 1 was met with retaliation with China stating it will cease purchasing U.S. soybean and other agricultural goods. China then allowed the renminbi to cross over the crucial 7/1 threshold versus the U.S. dollar. In response, the U.S. Treasury Department officially designated China as a "currency manipulator", but Larry Kudlow, Mr. Trump's Director of the National Economic Council, stated talks are to resume in September. Soon thereafter, Mr. Trump delayed this latest tariff increase until December 15. The risk of a U.S. recession appears to be rising with the yield curve's inversion highlighting bond investors' concerns and putting pressure on some financials' net interest income. The classic recessionary causes such as an overheated economy, earnings recession, runaway inflation, and financial imbalances must be monitored vigilantly and could be assured if tariffs increase further and consumer spending wavers. GDP headwinds include China/U.S. tariffs raising prices, more prohibited semiconductor and semi-equipment sales to Huawei since being placed on the U.S. "Security List", fewer aircraft deliveries as the Boeing 737 Max continues to be grounded for the foreseeable future, and unexpected hot points such as Mexican border issues and Iran causing business uncertainty. A global easing cycle has gained traction with the U.S., New Zealand, Thailand, and Indian central banks all now in stimulus mode. 2Q:19 earnings are coming in better than expected. Knowing what we know today, earnings are poised to reaccelerate in the second half of the year to a 5-7% growth rate with revenues to continue to expand at a 3% pace. As value investors, we believe it is imperative to stick to the fundamentals (cash flow, earnings, and company specific catalysts) and those companies with the balance sheets and management teams to prevail over time. Stocks trading at attractive valuations, with ample long-term growth prospects, should ultimately win investor favor. The RVDA portfolio remains attractively valued on all five factors relative to the Russell 1000 Value. Using consensus estimates (the RV team's own estimates are higher), the portfolio's 2Y EPS annualized growth rate is double digits. The portfolio's slightly higher growth potential versus the value benchmark while simultaneously trading at a discount underscores the "Search for Value Poised for Growth" Relative Value investment philosophy.
